Some of the Finest Contractors

We receive many requests for referrals from homeowners who plan various types of construction projects. In order to be fair to our many loyal contractor customers (some of the finest in the area), the employee-owners of Concord Lumber Corporation have compiled this directory.

Selecting the right contractor for your particular project is very important. We emphasize that different contractors have different skills and interests. We urge you to interview and evaluate at least three contractors from our directory to determine the best fit for your project. Remember to check references, licenses and insurance, as well as for personal compatibility (you'll be working together for a few months, so select someone you think you can get along with).

All of the contractors listed in this directory have accounts that have been in good standing with Concord Lumber Corporation for at least two consecutive years. They each have told us that they have liability insurance. They each are separate business entities and are listed here free-of-charge. Concord Lumber Corporation does not take any responsibility for their business practices or the quality of their work.

Check a Mass Contractor/Construction Supervisor (CS) license:

Tips for Selecting a Contractor:

(from the www.mass.gov website - Consumer Affairs and Business Regulation area)

1. Spend time thinking about the specific design and materials you want. You should clearly describe the work you want done in a specification sheet and floor plan for potential contractors. When all contractors who bid on a job work from the same design description, there is more likely to be a complete and accurate bidding process.
2. Obtain recommendations from consumers who have had similar work done on their homes or from professional trade associations.
3. Interview at least three contractors and request a written, detailed estimate. Ask for explanations for price variations. Don't automatically choose the lowest bidder.
4. Hire only registered or registered and licensed contractors. Check with the Board of Building Regulations and Standards to make sure that the contractor or subcontractor you hire is currently registered with the state, and has an appropriate license, if necessary.
5. Confirm three references for each contractor. Ask the contractor for a written list of his/her three most recent projects with names, telephone numbers and addresses of the owners. Contact the other homeowners who have hired the contractor and find out if they have had any problems.
6. Check the contractor's complaint history with the Attorney General's Office and the Better Business Bureau. You can contact Consumer Affairs to find out if there have been arbitration cases or Guaranty Fund cases filed against the contractor. The Board of Building Regulations and Standards tracks disciplinary actions against registered contractors.
7. Ensure that the contractor has adequate personal liability, property damage and worker's compensation insurance. Ask to see a copy of the certificates of insurance and verify that they are current. Otherwise, you may be liable for any injuries and damages that occur during the project.

Where Homes Become Masterpieces

Our millwork specialists will guide you through a selection of standard and custom millwork options to help set your home apart.

Forester Moulding & Millwork's expertise is "whole house" interior trim packages. We offer on-site consultation to help you select a millwork style and design to highlight each room of every home. We also fabricate custom architectural millwork. The possibilities are endless. Every project is unique. Our 65,000 sq.ft. headquarters is both an area for our craftsmen to create custom pieces and a showroom for their work.

Discriminating homeowners and builders rely on our talented staff for incomparable kitchen and bath designs that are practical, yet masterful.

Our creative plans will distinguish your home and reflect your unique lifestyle.

First, we'll help you select cabinets from major manufacturers. Then we'll guide you through a selection of countertops. Finally, we'll install your new cabinets with a critical attention to detail.

We look forward to working with you.
